Historical Information

The College of Business, organized in 1915, is the oldest college of business in the state and one of the oldest in the South. In 1979, the Department of Accounting was designated as the School of Accountancy in answer to a need for attention to the unique requirements of the growing profession of accountancy. In 2007, the School of Accountancy was renamed the Richard C. Adkerson School of Accountancy.

This college permits students to major in any of the following programs: Accounting, Finance, Information Systems, Economics, Business Administration, BA-International Business/Foreign Languages (double degree), Management, Marketing, Marketing-Supply Chain Management, Risk Management and Insurance, and Marketing-Professional Golf Management. The College offers degree programs that lead to bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees. Distance learning through interactive classrooms and Internet courses is another avenue available to pursue course work for College of Business students. Minors are available in most program areas.

Mission

To be a nationally recognized and respected college of business equipped to focus on dynamic and collaborative learning, innovative and distinctive research, and valued outreach activities in the state and region.

Accreditation

The undergraduate, masters, and doctoral business programs are accredited by AACSB International (The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business). The Adkerson School of Accountancy is separately accredited at the undergraduate and masters levels by AACSB International.

Support Services

COB Academic Advising Center

Coordinator: Vergie Bash

106 McCool Hall: 325-1890

The College of Business (COB) Academic Advising Center provides centralized advising resources to students (current, prospective, and alumni), parents, faculty, and support staff. The Academic Advising Center maintains the official records of COB students (Accounting majors should see the Director of Accountancy). The Center represents the Dean on all academic paperwork such as transfer evaluations, off-campus requests, withdrawals, overload requests, degree audits, change of majors, and correspondence course approvals.

Unless otherwise noted, all undergraduate business majors are advised through the COB Academic Advising Center.

Employment Service

The College of Business endeavors, in cooperation with the Career Center (located at 300 Montgomery Hall), to arrange employment interviews for graduating seniors. Former graduates seeking employment or change of position are urged to keep the Career Center informed as to availability.

Computing Facilities

The College of Business is committed to providing experience and training on a variety of computer platforms that are commonly used in the modern business community. The main computing needs of the College are served by a large-scale local area network composed of more than 300 IBM compatible computers. These systems are linked through a Novell network to College-wide servers that provide access to educational software, administrative databases and research facilities.

The College uses electronic mail as one of its primary communication methods; many professors use e-mail to enhance the classroom experience. All students receive their own personal e-mail account.

COB is directly connected to the Internet, a world-wide network linking many educational, government, and commercial groups. In addition, a number of research databases are provided to aid in statistical analysis and other class projects. Lexis/Nexis, Compustat and CRSP are a few of the available databases.

The Ron J. and Carol M. Ponder Lab is a state of the art facility used by students for the completion of computer-related assignments. The Leo Seal Electronic Classroom is reserved by professors to illustrate computer-related concepts in the classroom. In addition, other more specialized computer labs exist, and presentation systems help to augment classroom demonstrations. The College of Business also offers a computer security analysis lab, used in classes to help prepare students for the decision making required of professionals in business today.

Preparation for the Study of Law

Major Advisors: Gloria Liddell and Pearson Liddell
Office: 324 McCool Hall

Each year a number of graduates of the College of Business enter law school. Although there is no formal pre-law curriculum, most law schools advise pre-law students to seek a wide background of studies. The curriculum in the College is good preparation for the study of law because it offers the opportunity to study the arts, the humanities, science, and mathematics, in addition to business and economic disciplines which constitute the background for understanding the study of most legal problems. Because many areas of law practice deal with business, a background in business is very useful to the practicing attorney. Moreover, several business law course offerings are available to expose the student to introductory-level law courses. In addition, if a person should decide not to pursue a legal career, there are many opportunities available in business. A professor of business law—pre-law advisor—is available for providing information about the legal professional, assistance in choosing courses, and guidance concerning law school admissions.

Graduate Programs in Business Administration

Office: 200 McCool Hall

The College of Business offers five graduate programs in business administration, namely, the Master of Business Administration (MBA), The Master of Science in Information System (MSIS), Master of Professional Accountancy (MPA), Master of Taxation (MTX), and the Doctor of Philosophy in Business Administration (Ph.D.). An M.A. in Economics and a Ph.D. in Applied Economics are additional graduate programs offered in the College.

Admission requirements for graduate programs in business include an acceptable history of previous academic work and a satisfactory score on the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT). Required background for admission to graduate course-work includes a general knowledge of the functions of business, statistics, and proficiency in computer usage.

Details concerning these graduate programs can be found in the Graduate Bulletin. Students who are interested in pursuing any of these programs should communicate with the Director of Graduate Studies
